While Judge Greshum Is Most Prominently Named the Iowan Men of Influence Have a Pretty Plan Whereby to Let Clarkson Into the Cabinet-Badean's Opposition to Fred Grant.

(apricial to the evening world.)
Washington, D. C., March 23.—Western men are divided as to who shall fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench, a position they already claim to control.

The strongest man mentioned is Judge Gresham, and a number of leading Republicons from Illinois and Ohio are active in his support, although they realize that his ap-pointment will be his political death.

Indiana folks have another plan, and it is being seriously advanced to-day.

They propose to put Attorney-General Miller on the Supreme Bench, and in this they are supported by Atlison and his friends, who want Secretary Noble, of the Interior, placed at the head of the Department of Justice, so that John S. Clarkson may be made Secre-tary of the Interior.

Iowans generally are sanguine that some such deal may be made.

BUSY AND LONESOME BADRAU. Adam Badeau was a busy man this morn-ing, but he was not receiving as much en-couragement as he looked for in his fight against the confirmation of Col. Fred Grant. A number of those who in years past were Badeau's strong friends seem to be dodging him around town, so that he is practically slone and unsupported in his struggle.

FUNERAL OF JUSTICE MATTHEWS.

Brief Exercises to Be Held at Washingto nd Further Services at Cincinnati.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] WASHINGTON, March 23.—The remains of the late Justice Matthews will remain in this city until Monday. Brief funeral exercises will be conducted at the house in Connecticut avenue Monday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Hamlin, of the Church of the Covenant, and the body will then be taken to Cincinnati. Further services will then be held at Christ Episcopal Church, after which the re-mains will be borne to Spring Grove Ceme-

Among the many messages of condolence received by the family of the dead jurist is a personal letter from Prosident Harrison.

ELSIE LESLIE AND THE PIGS.

She Calculates that She Drove Them the Pen in Less Than No Time. To the Editor of The Evening World:

Last evening when I arrived at the Broadway Theatre, where I am engaged in playing the part of Little Lord Fauntleroy, I was presented with one of those very interesting and amusing puzzle-boxes called Pigs in Clover, and at the same time was requested to try to beat the record at driving the pigs. I think that I have fairly and justly done it; and further, I believe that my time cannot be I was handed the puzzle in my dressing.

I was handed the puzzle in my dressingroom at 7.50 p. M. My mother immediately commenced dressing me for the evening's performance, while I used my best endeavors to pen the pigs and at the same time lent myself to making the change of wearing apparel. I succeeded in penning one of the pigs before I got my one to go on at 8.09%.
Gurtain went down on the first act at 9
p. M. I again seized the puzzle and my mother seized me and commenced her part of the performance in changing my dress for the second act. Called by stage manager to go on at 9.10. During this period I penned another pig. Curtain down on second act at 9.55. Same struggle repeated. My mother works on me and I work on the puzzle.
Called to go on at 10.05. just as I have succeeded in making my change of costume and in penning the two remaining pigs.

SPRING NOVELTIES IN THEIR GLORY. A Fourteenth Street Attraction for Lovers of Things of Beauty.

Supry skies, mellow air and clean pavements brought out the ladies to-day in force. These harbingers of spring make the female mind lightly turn to thoughts of spring gowns and bonnets, and the display windows in the dry-goods districts were the shrines before which myriad women wor-shipped. Among the most attractive displays, both in the windows and on the inside of the store, is that of Callahan & Morrissey at 48 West Fourteenth street and 47 and 49 West Thirteenth street.

The salesrooms were more than thronged with the fair ones all day, and what they saw clicited expressions of highest delight. The elicited expressions of highest delight. The new Spring novelties spread out by this firm for selections by the ladies are remarkable for the r vast variety and prettiness. Spring newmarkets, peasant garments, Em-pire jackets, kersevs and Directoire jackets form the most attractive line for this season, while the Spring dress goods are unusually neat and tasty, and, best of all, at most rea-sonable cost, fitting the purse of every one. Serge and cashnere suits are as popular as Serge and cashmere suits are as popular as ever, and Callahan & Morrassy have a fine selection of them. Jerseys and wraps and fancy goods of all manner and kind are here, and the Spring trade seems to be opening with a remarkable boom. **

Mr. Croker Due Here on April 15. A letter from Tammany's big chief, Fire Commissioner Richard Croker to a friend in this city, announces that he will return to New York about April 15. This will give the officers-seekers who hope to fill the many vacancies to be created May 1 but two short weeks in which to hustle, but Mr. Croker may depend upon it that they will make life a burden for him during that period.

Unconscious on the Sidewalk.

An unknown man about thirty years of age, dark brown hair and eyes, smooth face, dark sutaway coat and striped trousers, was found nuconscious on the sidewalk in front of 101 Cedar street this morning. He was taken to the Chamber Street Hospital, where it was found be was suffering from rum epilepsy. He will recover.

Remembering John Rouch. Daniel Quinn, who was the Republican candidate for Congress against S. S. Cox six years agy, is said to have the inside track for the position of Chief Constructor in the Brooklyn Navy-Yard.

Mr. Quinn was the manager of John Reach's Morgan Iron Works.

A Victim of the River.

The body of a man about thirty-five years old, o feet 0 inches in height, with dark hair and immatache, drossed in dark clothes and gaiters, was found off pier 38 East River, foot of Market street, this morning. The Coroner was notified and the body taken to the Morgue.

AN UNVERIPIED REPORT THAT HE HAS EXCITING FIRE STARTED BY AN EARLY-SAILED FOR HOME.

His Countly nibs, Giovanni di Montercoli, was said to be a passenger on the outgoing La Champagne this morning. His withdrawal from these shores would be an unloubted relief to the Knox family.

Among the chipper French people who smiled and chattered and inhaled the fragrance of flowers on the lordly La Champagne this morning the little barber-like figure of Montercoli was not.

Neither did he figure on the passenger list. Nor did the mattre d'hotel have him on his written list.

At the passenger ticket office on the pier there were only two late-comers, a Frenchman and his wife. Montercoli is neither a Frenchman nor the wife of a Frenchman. in fact, he is with difficulty the husband of

In fact, he is with difficulty the husband of of an American.

If La Champagne bore away the trim little chevalier it must have been under an assumed name, or under his true one, perhaps, which would doubtless be as good a diaguise. But none of the names by which he has been pleasantly known to the columns of the press figures on the Commissionative's list. There was no Carust, no Peanatit, no Banani, no Maccaroni al Fromaggio; none of these. The only name that suggested the diminutive Count was the grandiloquently Italian one of Califano Gianare!

If Sig. Gianare is a respectable, worthy untitled son of Italy, who is the righteous husband of a good wife, then may he not resent the awful suspicion of being the Count di Montercoli. It is a picturesque name that would make a disay incognito for the Chevalier. Voila lout!

would make a diszy incognito for the Chevalier. Voila tout!
The Count is said to have tried hard to unfoad on the American public a brochure describing his matrimonial alliance, in which he blackguards the Virginia Knox who has the awful lot to be Mrs. Montercoli.
Nobody wanted the Count's brochure, He is said to have asked thousands for it, then hundreds, and at last wanted to work it off on a Pittsburg paper for a paitry $100. Probably the Count has it with him now, for nobody would take it even as a present.
"I desire a divorce, and nothing but a divorce," is the last pathetic utterance of this dapper little Count, who was three times married to his wife and lived with her almost two months.

The Count di Montercoli is valuable only in the light of an example to American girls of what they should avoid.

Ta, ta. Montercoli.

LONG QUEST BY A MOTHER.

A Thousand Miles and Four Years in Search of Her Kidnapped Children.

A case of peculiar mystery reported to-day at Police Headquarters is that of Mrs. Eliza A. Owens, a dressmaker, of 34 West Fourteenth street, who has spent several years in a vain search for her two children, Lulu Adele Owens and Willie Bruce Owens.

She says that four years ago the Tennessee

She says that four years ago the Tennessee Chancery Court granted her an absolute divorce from her husband, Thomas B. Owens, with custody of her four children.

Two of them she retained, but her late husband kidnapped Lulu and Willie, brought them to this city and took them to his mother's home, 347 West Fourteenth street.

The heart-broken mother came to this city to get them, but they were removed in a few days from the Fourteenth street house, no one knew whither. Resolving never to go back without them, Mrs. Owens settled here and became a dressmakes.

Private detectives were employed, the police were enlisted, and she offered a reward of $200 for the return of the children.

She has learned that her former husband was compelled to seek work as a conductor on the Sixth avenue road and later as a driver on the Belt line, and then he disappeared as if the earth had swallowed him.

Her son, now sixteen years of age, she is

Her son, now sixteen years of age, she is told, has worked as a clerk in Altman's dry-goods store for a time, but she cannot find him. She asked the police to send out a Gunther K. Ackerman to Succeed Him or

Mayor Grant has determined on a complete reorganization of the Municipal Civil-Service Examining Board. He has notified Secretary and Chief Examiner Lee Phillips that his calp will be demanded April 1.

Mr. Phillips's successor has been determined on, but has not yet been appointed. He is Gunther K. Ackerman, business manager of a morning newspaper.

The appointment is withheld for a few days simply to allow Mr. Ackerman, who is a resident of Brocklyn, to find a domicile on Manhattan Island.

Manhattan Island.

Mr. Ackerman was formerly a prominent member of Tammany Hall, and has held many positions of a clerical character in the municipal service.

The salary of the office which he is to receive is $4,500.

Man Arrested Who Wasn't Mrs. Mutter's Assailant. Under orders from Chief Murphy the Jerey City detectives to-day kept a close watch on the outgoing steamers for Farm Hand Joseph Salzman, the murderous assailant of Mrs. Juliana Mutter, of Irvington, N. J.

Detective Dalton arrested a man answering Detective Daiton arrested a man answering one of the many descriptions of Salzman. He was on the Amsterdam, of the Netherland Steamship Company, which sailed at 10.30. Word was sent to Newark of the arrest, and a friend of the Mutters who knew Salzman came on, but did not recognize the prisoner. The prisoner proved to be August Zeltner, a blacksmith of Albany. He was let go.

ELIZABETH SETTLING ACCOUNTS.

McKenzie, the City's Chief Creditor, Has His Debt of $260,000 Paid.

SEPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. ELIZABETH, N. J., March 23. -At a secret session of Elizabeth's City Council ex-President George R. McKenzie, of the Singer Manufacturing Company, who was the chief outstanding creditor of the city, settled the entire amount of his claims, amounting, with entire amount of his claims, amounting, with interest, to $260,000.

He got cash for his loan of $50,000 and also for the $36,000 tax arrearage bonds he held. On the balance of the claim he accepted 50 cents on the dollar.

This leaves of Elizabeth's original debt of over $7,000,000 only $300,000 remaining unsettled.

The Central Hudson's New Train. The Wagner Palace Car Company have nearly ompleted a new train, designed for the Central's New York and Chicago limited. The principal feature is a car which will consist of ten compartments, intended for the occupancy ten compartments, intended for the occupancy of twenty persons, affording utmost privacy and seclusion. Complete toilet conveniences, electric call-bell, hot and cold water, and other devices are provided, while the whole is fitted up with elaborate furnishings and decorations. If desired the car can be arranged for families. The whole train will be lighted by gas.

The Resumers Hetel Renumed. The Rossmore Hotel, at Broadway and Forty-second street, will bereafter be known by the name of the Hotel Metropole. The change in name is due to the change in proprietoralip, as the hotel yesterday passed into the hands of Green & Putnam.

RISING TEN-YEAR-OLD.

He Struck a Match on the Window Casing at 5 O'Clock This Merning, and It Set Fire to the Curtains-Then He Yelled His Grandma Not Over It Yet.

Willie Rigney is only a ten-year-old boy, but he managed to work up considerable exeitement in the neighborhood of 811 Greenrich street this morning.

Willie lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Williams, on the first floor of the old and and substantial five-story brick house at 811 Greenwich street, but he lodges in a room in the spartments of Arthur Bentley on the top floor. Willie has contracted a very bad habit (fo a boy) of getting out of bed at the unseemiy hour of 5 o'clock every morning.

That's what he did this morning and, as everybody knows, old Phosbus's chariot everybody knows, old Phæbus's chariot doesn't begin to strike fire on the stones in its heavenly road until later.

Willie is a child of light, however, and in an attempt to light the gas in the front room on that fifth floor a catastrophe befel.

The match struck on the window casing, flared up and ignited the lace curtain.

There was a big blass right away. Willie yelled "Fire!" and a policeman on the corner awakened enough to ring an alarm.

A dozen engines and trucks scurried to the scene from their several houses and the neighbors on the block prepared to move out instanter. Thoughful wives tucked the silver spoons into the pockets of their nightrobes and energetic hasbands were prepared to toos their mirrors out of window.

A stream squelched the conflagration, with a monetary damage of $10-fully insured—but the hearts of the people in the house didn't settle down into their proper places for several hours, and Fireman James McCue, of Engine 3, will remember that boy Willie for some time.

Engine 3, will remember that boy Willie for some time.

He was thrown from the tender of his engine and both legs were so badly bruised that he will lie in St. Vincent's Hospital for several days.

Grandma Williams said to an Evening World reporter who called: "Oh, it's all over now. But that child! He's always into something. I shan't get over it in a week."

EX-JUDGE KOCH'S BACKING.

Henry D. Purroy Pushing Him for Commissioner of Docks. Fire Commissioner Henry D. Purroy is Fifth avenue. She took a coupé Thursday to call on a friend on Lexington avenue. When she arrived there the earring was missed.

The diamonds are worth about $700, but Mrs. Chamberlin values it much above that, as the set has been in her family many years, and was given to her by her mother.

Kate Got Seven Months for Lying.

Kate Barrow, on whose testimony Dive-Keeper McCarthy was sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year for assault, told Justice Power this morning in the Tombs Police Court that she had been dragged on board an East River canal-boat last night and assaulted by four men. The men were in Court as prisoners, but her story was so plainly mythical that the Justice discharged the men and sentenced Kate to seven months on the island for vagrancy.

Hoyt, 37 East Twenty-ninth street, yesterday, and soon after came out with $440 worth of curtains. The sight of a policeman doubtless prevented an extensive robbery. They were arrested on the Bowery with the curtains in their possession.

Boasted of Passing a Counterfeit Dollar. After an exciting chase Roundsman McAdam, of the Twelfth Precinct, captured Henry Bern seim on Attorney street to-day. Bernheim, who is seventeen years of age and lives at 84 Hester street, passed a counterfeit dollar on Cosori Celiano, of 25 Madison street. He beasted of his feat to his friends and the Italian reported him to the police. Commissioner Lyman held him in $500 bail for examination on Monday.

Mayor Grant and the Chess Congress. A committee of the Chess Congress, which opens next Monday at 12 Union square, waited upon Mayor Grant to-day and asked him to open the Congress in person. A previous engagement preventing his attendance, Chief Clerk Crain suggested that a formal invitation be sent the Mayor, who will reply with a letter of regret.

The Bogus Firemen Taken to Buffalo. James W. Drummond and Samuel Conklin, the bogus Fire Department subscription collectors were to-day turned over to Detective Patrick Mack, of Buffalo, who at once put them on board a train for that city. The Buffalo anthor-ities are said to have positive proof of the bogus practices of these men in their city.

CHARLES BRINS RELEASED.

Coroner Levy Procures the Discharge of Blind Match Peddler. Charlie Brins, a sixteen-year-old Jewish boy, has been released from the Tombs at the rewnest of Coroner Ferdinand Levy. The ad is an orphan. He is cruelly deformed by a sickness in childhood, and one eye was lost in an accident.

He lived in Pruzany, Russia, until two years ago, when he came to America with his great uncle, Mr. Berkovitz, with whom he lived at 180 Ludlow street.

A cataract began to form over his remaining eys and now he is totally blind.

On Feb. 13 a policeman found him selling matches on a street corner. The poor boy had no ličense and was arrested, and Police Justice Ford sentenced him to three months in the Tombs.

Justice Ford sentenced him to three months in the Tombs.

Coroner Levy learned of the case and, upon promising to see that Brins was cared for, obtained his release. An effort is being made to raise a fund to send the lad back to Russia, where he has relatives. The first contribution of $1 was received to day from Mrs. M. Rosenthal, of $25 East Fifty.seventh street.

The case is a most deserving one and contributions should flow freely.

MERCHANT BARKER DISAPPEARS.

His Handsome Wife a Visitor to the Morgue and Police Hendquarters.

Headquarters police were to-day asked to search for George Barker, a con mission merchant well known in the artificial flower trade, who has been missing since Tuesday.

His wife, a handsome English lady, is much distressed at his absence, and has visited the hospitals and Morgue and had the records at Police Headquarters searched for a trace of him. Barker has not been seen since last Tuesday, when he was at 14 Chrystie street, and his wife fears that he is dead.

Before coming here to live, Barker resided in Montreal, where he was worth fully $60,000. Unfortunate speculations wiped out his wealth, and to-day his family is penniless and their sole support has joined the vast army of missing persons. Mrs. Barker is living temporarily at 178 Seventh avenue.

They Were Partial to Chickens. At 1 o'clock this morning Officer Downey, of the Twentieth Precinct, found two men, John McCarthy, of 424 West Twenty-sixth street, and Francis McVey, with no home, standing suspiciously near the butcher shop of August Busch, $57 West Twenty-seventh street. A search of the alley beside the shop revealed three hams and sixty pounds of chicken ready for removal. The policeman arrested the men and at the Jefferson Market Court this morning they were held in $1,500 bail for trial.

or enough of both to prove to any woman its wonderful dirtremoving and labor-saving qualities. Costs almost nothing, but makes the dirt jump. Does it hurt the hands or clothing? NO, it is harmless. Many millions of packages used every year-no complaints, but many women write: cannot get along without Pearline.

Peddlers and some unscrupilous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers.
